arrangements.

- (a) the Bank;
- (b) a supervised financial institution;
- (c) a central counterparty, Central Securities Depository, settlement agent or clearing house, or any similar entity that is operating in the futures, options or derivatives markets provided that the entity is regulated under the laws of Guyana;

(4) For this regulation to apply to financial collateral, there shall be evidence in writing of the provision of the collateral which identifies the financial collateral concerned.

(5) For the purpose of subregulation (4), it is sufficient to prove that the relevant -

- (a) book entry securities collateral has been credited to, or forms a credit in, the relevant G-CSD account which registers securities earmarked for a specific collateral purpose; and
- (b) cash collateral has been credited to, or forms part of, a participants settlement account.

Principles governing G-RTGS settlement.

35. (1) If a participant has insufficient funds in their G-RTGS settlement account to finalise settlement, where the participant agrees, the Bank may use agreed value securities held by that participant in the G-CSD that are pledged as a guarantee for settlement under the financial collateral arrangement and to deliver intraday liquidity to the participant's settlement account to assure settlement.

(2) Each G- RTGS participant shall, as necessary, set up such collateral in the form of pledged financial instruments as defined above in its G-CSD account for guaranteeing the settlement and the G-CSD shall automatically register the value of pledged securities in the participant's G-RTGS collateral account.

(3) Participants may also register other forms of collateral in the G-RTGS collateral account, such as foreign exchange reserves and eligible deposits at the Bank.

(4) Each participant may set up in G-RTGS a general reserve and a cash reserve for its own liquidity management purposes and establishment of a reserve has the effect of moving funds from available funds in the settlement account in G-RTGS into a reserve account in G-RTGS where they can only be used for the designated purpose of settlement.

(5) A right under a financial collateral arrangement to substitute or withdraw excess financial collateral in favour of the collateral provider does not prejudice the financial collateral that is provided to the collateral taker as mentioned in this regulation.

(6) Financial collateral arrangements, netting agreements and close-out netting provisions shall be valid and enforceable in accordance with their terms.

(7) Where the prior collateral taker is the Bank, the collateral provider may not make further financial collateral arrangements using the same collateral if the prior collateral taker still has right of use.

Formal requirements with respect to financial collateral arrangements and the provision of financial collateral.

36. (1) Participants governed by the Laws of Guyana hereby explicitly acknowledge that in accordance with these Regulations, the creation, validity, perfection, enforceability and admissibility in evidence of the collateral in regulation 35 is not dependent on the performance of any formal act and that the collateral is considered provided to and under the control of the Bank, which is the collateral taker, by reserving the credit balances in the available funds or in the relevant reserves of the Participants, and by registration of the collateral over government securities in the G-CSD.

(2) For the purposes of this Regulation, "formal act" includes any judicial act, registration, notification, note in any public registry, acknowledgement, advertisement published in any newspaper or journal, any form of delivery or any similar act.

(3) Subregulation (1) does not prejudice the application of this instruction to financial collateral that has been provided so long as that provision is capable of being evidenced in writing and the relevant financial collateral arrangement is also capable of being evidenced in writing.

Regulation 35(2) and (3) not to limit other Laws of Guyana.

37. Nothing in regulations 35(2) and (3) limits any requirement imposed by any other Law of Guyana to the effect that the realisation or valuation of financial collateral and that the calculation of the relevant financial obligations shall be conducted in a commercially reasonable manner.

Part VIII ENFORCEMENT OF FINANCIAL COLLATERAL ARRANGEMENTS

Right of collateral taker to enforce security financial collateral arrangement

38. (1) On the occurrence of an enforcement event relating to a security financial collateral arrangement, the collateral taker under the arrangement has a right to realise the financial collateral provided under the arrangement where -

- (a) the collateral is in the form of a financial instrument, by sale or appropriation and by setting off the instrument's value against, or applying that value in discharge of, the relevant financial obligations, and

(b) the collateral is in the form of cash, by setting off the amount of cash against, or applying it, in discharge of the relevant financial obligations.

(2) For the purpose of this regulation, a collateral taker may appropriate a financial instrument only if the relevant security financial collateral arrangement-

- (a) allows appropriation; and
- (b) provides for the valuation of the instrument.

(3) Financial collateral may, subject to the terms of the relevant security financial collateral arrangement, be realised under this regulation without the need-

- (a) to give prior notice of intention to realise the financial collateral;
- (b) for the terms of realisation to be approved by a court, public authority or person;
- (c) to conduct the realisation by public auction or by any other means by which an insolvent person's assets may be lawfully realised; or
- (d) for any additional period of time to have elapsed.

Financial collateral arrangement to have effect despite winding-up proceedings or resolution measures.

39. A financial collateral arrangement has effect in accordance with its terms despite the commencement or continuation of winding-up proceedings or resolution measures in relation to the collateral provider or collateral taker.

Collateral and finality.

40. (1) G- RTGS participants agree that as soon as a settlement instruction or net settlement instruction from any participant or Clearing House is submitted to the G-RTGS, the Bank shall automatically reserve the available funds in their settlement accounts to enable the immediate settlement of the positions once the instruction is accepted for settlement.

(2) If insufficient funds are available in the settlement account of one or more participants to settle those participants' obligations, the Bank shall calculate the sum of available funds plus the amount held in the reserve in G-RTGS associated with that participant and type of transaction.

(3) Where there is still insufficient funds available after calculations are completed under subregulation (2), the Bank shall use pledged securities under the security financial collateral arrangement in the G-CSD for the amount of the additional funds required and shall allow the participant to overdraw its G-RTGS settlement account up to the value of pledged collateral available.

(4) Where the situation in subregulation (3) occurs, the G-RTGS shall then accept the settlement instruction for settlement and the participant shall repay the overdraft according to the G-RTGS System Rules.

Financial collateral arrangements and financial collateral not to be invalidated or voided.

41. (1) A financial collateral arrangement, or financial collateral provided under such arrangement, cannot be invalidated, declared void or be reversed because the arrangement was created, or the financial collateral was provided-
